

BRONXITES WANT SUBWAYS BUILT BY THE INTERBOROUGH

So Williamsbridge Delegation
Asks Reopening of the Whole Proposition.

WOULD MEAN NEW BID.

McAneny Hears Offers for Operation of Tubes Will Be Sought in Month.

A delegation from the Williamsbridge section of the Bronx, headed by William H. Reynolds, a banker, tried to reopen the whole subway question late this afternoon by calling at City Hall and insisting that the Interborough Rapid Transit Company plan, which was rejected early this summer, be given reconsideration. They sought Borough President McAneny, Comptroller Fitzgerald, and President Mitchell of the Board of Aldermen, with whom they had their appointment.

The Bronxites want the discarded Interborough plan put back into the subway pot, for under it they got an extension of the present "L" lines out Webster avenue and an extension of the present subway up White Plains road, and over Gun Hill road. The Interborough subway out Jerome avenue is two miles from the heart of the Williamsbridge section, they claim.

"I don't worry much if the city can now go back to the Interborough plan as it stood before the last vote in the Board of Estimate," said Mr. McAneny. "Thirteen shafts are now down along Lexington avenue, and work is proceeding rapidly along the line of the decision of the board. Personally I should like to have seen the Interborough brought in under the proposal to give that company a profit of 2 per cent. over the cost of carrying its investment, and I voted that way, but we were a minority."

"So far as I can see, the only way for the Interborough to recapture its former prominent place in the running would be to submit an entirely new offer proposing even better terms than were rejected by the city. This would, of necessity, reopen the question, and even Williamsbridge would then get its share in such a proposal, as well as the lower west side."

"I understand that the contracts for operating the new subways will be advertised by the Public Service Commission in about a month. If a new transportation company, acting for the I. R. T. interests, is going to bid for the new subways, it will have to get organized before that time. My impression is that there will be keen competition for at least two of these contracts, for I understand they will be drawn by the Commission so any company can bid, even the Interborough Rapid Transit Company."

These operating contracts are:
1. Lexington avenue and Bronx lines, as laid out in the Triborough plan, with the lines to Queens, the Fourth avenue subway, Brooklyn, with its extensions to Coney Island and Fort Hamilton.

2. The Bridge loop, linking it with the L system of Brooklyn.

3. The line through Fourteenth street

American Girl Said to Be Engaged to One of Emperor William's Uhlans

MISS REYNOLDS.

Mrs. William H. Reynolds, wife of former State Senator Reynolds, and her daughter, Margaret and Marie, arrived today on the Minnewaska. Many of the passengers expressed the belief that the comely Margaret Reynolds had become engaged on the voyage to Baron Christian Van Moit, an officer of Emperor Wilhelm's crack Uhlan regiment.

Both the Baron and Mrs. Reynolds denied that there was any basis for this gossip.

Italy's Warships to China.

ROME, Oct. 15.—Rear Admiral Aubrey has been instructed to have three of the fastest cruisers in the Italian Navy prepared for despatch to Chinese waters if events there require protection for Italian subjects.

"IT WAS RECOMMENDED TO ME BY MY DOCTOR"

The Reason Why Many People Take Father John's Medicine

When Mrs. C. H. Dunkel, of 33 Linden street, Reading, Pa., was asked why she took Father John's Medicine for her cough, she replied, "It was recommended by my doctor." The same question was asked and a similar answer returned by the following:—Mrs. A. E. Hixon, 30 Larkin street, Bangor, Me.; Henry F. J. Jett, 25 Crown street, Malden, Conn.; Frank Puff, Hallam, Pa.; Miss Catherine Boyle, 45 Blackburn street, Fairhaven, Mass.; Charles

L. Brown, Irving, Ill., as well as a great many others.

Physicians, hospitals and other institutions all over the world endorse the merits of Father John's Medicine because they know of its history and curative power.

It cures colds, coughs and throat and lung troubles in the natural way by driving the impurities out of the body and at the same time its pure food elements make flesh and strength for those who are weak and run down. Not a patent medicine but a doctor's prescription, free from alcohol and poisonous drugs in any form. Get a bottle today.

TRIED HIS BEST, BUT CAN'T KILL DOG OF MRS. VAN ETEN

Has More Lives Than Any Cat,
Says Rich Piano Maker,
Arrested for Cruelty.

Emil Ernest Gabler, New York piano manufacturer, who is about to face a charge at Saratoga Lake of having brutally beaten the prize bulldog of Mrs. Van Eten, does not deny that he did his best to lay out Mrs. Van Eten's pet. Instead of denying it, he glories in it.

"The truth is," said Mr. Gabler, "that old dog is unkillable." According to Mr. Gabler, he has done enough to Mrs. Van Eten's bulldog to land him in bulldog heaven twenty times over. He says he has lamed him over the head, thrown him into the lake, beaten him with hunks of wood and knocked him insensible at least twice, only with the result that after each treatment the bulldog has come back for more.

Words, says Mr. Gabler, fail to give even an estimate of the unmitigated nuisance that Mrs. Van Eten's dog has been to the Gabler household.

"I tried to finish him twice," says Mr. Gabler. "I have letters from Mr. Van Eten in which he says that if that dog comes upon my property and annoys me I am authorized to kill him. Every time I think I've killed him he revives. I shall fight the case when it comes up on Oct. 24."

Mrs. Van Eten says that she is determined to prosecute Mr. Gabler. Her dog, she says, may never again win a prize, and just because of the fearful treatment given him by Mr. Gabler. After an affair of last week, when Mr. Gabler laid the bulldog out with a piece of firewood, Mrs. Van Eten caused Mr. Gabler's arrest by an agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The Gabler and Van Eten summer places adjoin on the shore of Hoot Pond, near Saratoga Lake. Both families have been there three years.

"I believe I shall be able to make a charge of false arrest before we get through," Mr. Gabler said today. "Mrs. Van Eten's dog has annoyed us for two years. He is a terrible fighter, he whips my dog every chance he gets, and he has bitten me and several members of my household. I tried hard enough to finish him!"

The case will be heard before Judge Dayey.

PEACE CHANCES FADING IN WAR OF ITALY AND TURKEY

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—The outlook for a successful intervention to bring to an end the Turco-Italian war is becoming less favorable, according to a semi-official statement today. Italy has yielded to public opinion at home, and is no longer willing to concede a Turkish suzerainty for Tripoli, while, on the other hand, Turkey is not willing to surrender Tripoli unconditionally because of the internal dangers that would be involved by such yielding on the part of the Government.

Accordingly, diplomats here see no chance for mediation at present, or until the attitude of the Turkish Chamber of Deputies is ascertained. It is impossible for other powers to negotiate definitely with Constantinople in advance of a settled Government there.

MRS. MURPHY'S BABY DIES AT ZOO IN CENTRAL PARK

Eleventh Arrival in Hippo
Family Didn't Live Long Enough to Get a Name.

Although the Giants won the first game of the world's series, the baby hippopotamus is dead at the Central Park Zoo. Thus is the joy of juvenile New York tempered by grief, for it is given to the hippopotamus but few opportunities to gaze upon a baby hippopotamus and that treat was in store for this community within a few days had Mrs. Murphy's youngest survived.

The baby hippo started in life under a heavy handicap. It was born at 3.30 in the afternoon of Friday, the 13th, inasmuch as Keeper Bill Snyder had officiated at the birth of two previous offspring of Mrs. Murphy, no difficulty was anticipated in rearing the eleventh. Apparently the baby hippo, which was a male, had every prospect of a long and happy career in the zoo. When Bill Snyder went home last night it was after making arrangements for the naming of the latest arrival today.

Night Watchman Jim Crowley heard a peculiar noise in the hippopotamus house at 1 o'clock this morning. He did not know what it was, but it was really a noise made by a hippopotamus mourning her eleventh born. Crowley knew this when he investigated and found Mrs. Murphy standing over the lifeless body of her babe.

Snyder was summoned from his home. He superintended the removal of the remains of the baby hippo. The carcass will be mounted and placed on exhibition at the Museum of Natural History.

ARKANSAS TOWN ON FIRE. Wives Down and Extent of Damage at Bonanza in Doubt.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 15.—A telephone message early today from Col. F. P. McConnell, cashier of the bank at Bonanza, a town of 800 inhabitants, fifteen miles from here, said that the town was doomed as a result of a fire which started there late last night. During his conversation the wire parted and all efforts to get again in touch with the town were unavailing.

When Col. McConnell telephoned the hotel and two big store buildings were in flames and the telephone exchange was threatened.

Trousers Stolen, Cash Too.
While Carmine Rosamella of No. 120 Eighth avenue, Newark, N. J., was sleeping early yesterday some one entered his home through a side window and stole his trousers, containing $15 in cash and a check for $60 on the Roseville Trust Company and one for $5 on the Federal Trust Company. The trousers were found in the yard.
